

San Marino, Huntington Library, RB 103533

Description: ff. 100 - Covers removed; only the front pastedown and part of the back remain, the latter from a Hebrew manuscript (Babylonian Talmud, Sotah 46b). - Written in northern Germany in the second half of the fifteenth century. Belonged to Leander van Ess (1772-1847); his name and number "416" in pale red ink on f. 1 of the manuscript. Sold by him to Sir Thomas Phillipps. Possibly n. 258 (? but printed in Basle: Henricus Wirzburg de Vach, 1481) or n. 890 (? but printed in Strasbourg: Johannes Grüninger, 1480) in the Catalogus Incunabulorum of former van Ess books in the Phillipps collection; the covers of the book are missing and the Catalogus number, normally on a label on the spine, is no longer present, if indeed it ever were. In ink on the former front pastedown and on a square printed label on the lower spine, the number "537." N. 618 in the bound Rosenbach typescript in Rare Book Department files. The Phillipps incunabula acquired by Henry E. Huntington through A. S. W. Rosenbach in 1923. - Mead, n. 804. Bond and Faye, 24.

Notes: - Bound before Werner Rolewinck, Fasciculus temporum [Cologne: Ludwig von Renchen, ca. 1483]; Hain 6914.

Acknowledgments: - We thank Rabbi Norbert Weinberg for the identification of the Hebrew manuscript that served as pastedowns in this codex.

Author: Hannibaldus de Hannibaldis

Title: Super libros I-IV Sententiarum

Title: Cupientes aliquid et cetera. Hic queruntur quinque

Language(s): Latin

Incipit: Primo utrum aliquis veritati insistere debeat que excedit facultatem sui intellectus

Explicit: fides est una licet diversa enuciabilia formentur sed diversum modum accipiendi ut accipiatur presens preterita vel futura.

Notes: Hannibaldus de Hannibaldis, Super libros I-IV Sent. Stegmüller, Rep. Sent. 309 and Kaeppli, SOPMA 1684; several early editions, often as Thomas Aquinas, Scripta ad Hannibaldum. Here in an abbreviated version, Bks. 1 and 3 only (the latter lacking dist. 22, as noted by the scribe), with loss of text due to missing leaves before f. 1 (? 1 leaf) and after ff. 12 (2 leaves), 22 (2 leaves), 33 (1 leaf), 43 (2 leaves), 53 (1 leaf).

Text 2: ff. 90-100v

Title: Commentary on the Sentences

Language(s): Latin

Incipit: Cum igitur venit plenitudo temporis ut ait apostolus misit deus filium suum natum de virgine et cetera. Determinato in libro precedenti de rerum exitu a principio. In hoc tertio incipit magister determinare de reditu divinarum rerum in finem scilicet deum

Explicit: In oppositionem prime partis conclusionis arguitur Omnes virtutes anime vegetalis scilicet active secundum commentationem qui in secundo de anima ponit hanc distinctionem.

Notes: Unidentified commentary on the third book of the Sentences of Peter Lombard, similar to Stegmüller, Rep. Sent. 1063 or 1361 (both anonymous); here probably ending incomplete.
